

PCT LTD Provides Update to Public, Distributors and Subregistrants Regarding Use of Products

Little River, South Carolina — (July 17, 2020) – PCT LTD (OTC Pink: PCTL) is providing this release to address specific questions which have been raised regarding the use and distribution of their products by unrelated or 3rd party entities.

PCT LTD has been made aware of, and continues to investigate, the use of PCT LTD products by other companies. PCT LTD is aware of certain companies making claims which include, but are not limited to:

- Claims regarding PCT LTD's relationship with an entity where no relationship exists
- Claims regarding PCT LTD's products, including efficacy and applications, which have not been sanctioned by PCT LTD or are not within the guidelines of PCT LTD's US EPA registration.
- Usage of PCT LTD's products which have not been vetted or sanctioned by PCT LTD or are not within the guidelines of the company's US EPA registration.
- Expressed inferences and/or references to the US EPA's List N without the required US EPA emerging pathogen verbiage and directions.

The company thoroughly vets all distributors and subregistrants prior to entering into a legally binding agreement. Such agreements include terms regarding usage and representation of PCT LTD's products and claims, terms, and language which may be used (or not used) while representing PCT LTD's US EPA Registration 92108-1 (Alternate brand name: Hydrolyte®) registration.

“Because our vetting process is so rigorous, anyone who is legitimately using our supplemental US EPA registration deserves a firm stance on this issue from us,” explains PCT LTD CEO Gary Grieco. “Let it be known, and you can quote me on this, that we will rigorously defend our brand, products, and our highly valuable and coveted US EPA product registration from misuse or misrepresentation from outside companies which have no business making such claims, including legal action if necessary.”

The Company is and will actively continue to take action through appropriate legal and regulatory channels to address any misuse or misrepresentation of its products.
