

PCT LTD Announces New Purchase Order as the Result of a Successful Trial of Annihilyzer® Infection Control Systems

LITTLE RIVER, S.C., May 6, 2019 -- PCT LTD (OTC Pink: PCTL), through its operating subsidiary, Paradigm Convergence Technologies Corporation (PCT Corp), announced today that ACE Janitorial Supply Company ("ACE"), PCT Corp.'s distributor for the New York hospital and healthcare market, received a new purchase order for Morgan Stanley Presbyterian Children's Hospital to continue using PCT Corp.'s patented Annihilyzer® Infection Control System following a successful 60-day trial within the facility. Morgan Stanley Presbyterian Children's Hospital is the fourth hospital to become a customer of PCT Corp's. and to take a proactive approach in providing patients, visitors and staff a new type and level of protection from the potential of hospital-associated infections.

The Annihilyzer® Infection Control System produces on-site generated Electro-Chemically Activated ("ECA") cleaning and disinfectant fluid solutions that allow hospitals to move away from traditional disinfectants that are toxic and can cause harm to the people, equipment and furnishings that are exposed to them. The Annihilyzer® Infection Control System produces a hospital-level disinfectant fluid solution that is effective against hospital-acquired infections (HAI's) like MRSA, VRE and C-diff, yet these fluid solutions pose none of the threats of the previously-used disinfecting chemicals. The system also includes a patented RFID material tracking system that not only tracks the life cycle of the disinfectant, but also supplies hospital administrators with valuable data about who performed sanitation services, when and where those services were provided, and confirms that the disinfection process protocols were followed.

PCT Corp.'s healthcare sales professionals are currently working with "ACE" to finalize the scheduling of the next two proactive hospitals in the Greater New York area for 60-day trials of PCT's Annihilyzer Infection Control System.
